PRESENTS

THAT Wonderful YEAR
1962-1963

Mrs. Golden, Advisor

Monette Boyett, Editor

Rita Laughlin, Associate Editor

"Our Little Man", representing the SHS student, is presented as the theme of the '62 Jacket.
 (TOP RIGHT) The Rec Hall is the scene of the distribution of the '62 Jackets. Sue and Monette start things off by presenting annuals to the board members.
 (BOTTOM RIGHT) Pictures are on sale giving students an opportunity to get that special picture for scrapbook or billfold.

Jacket Staff seeks to record year's happenings

Joanne and Jack pause at entrance to Neptune's underwater cave.

The annual staff tries a new idea for stimulating annual sales. This year a Jacket Couple is chosen from the class who has the largest percentage of subscribing members. The Junior Class wins and chooses Joanne Reed and Jack Ballow as the "Jacket Couple".

Basically the Jacket is a book of memories designed to picture the many phases of life at SHS. It records personalities, classes, organizations, sports - the varied areas of school life a tangible evidence of which the students will want once the year is gone.

Work on the '63 Jackets begins even before the '62 books are distributed. Mrs. Golden, Monette, and Mary Cork attend a summer workshop at Texas Tech to study the principles and techniques of compiling a yearbook. After spending a full week, Monette and Mary bring their ideas and knowledge back to the other staff members to be put into use.

In the fall staffers concentrate on actually selling annuals and soliciting ads from the Stephenville merchants.

Many long hours are spent planning and getting pictures for every individual section. Then as the last page of copy is sent in, staffers breathe a sigh of relief and hope you enjoy reading your story as much as we have enjoyed composing it.

Gary Golden, business manager, and Steve Gideon, band editor, get first look at Jean Evatt's scrapbook. Experienced staff members--Edwina Keller, Randy Chandler, Jan Miller, and Mary Cork--bake, sell, buy, and eat cupcakes.

Mrs. Golden, Rita Laughlin, and Monette Boyett plan for photographic needs with Mr. Flewellen, Delmar representative.

The tables are turned and Roger Lankford, Jacket photographer, is snapped at a senior party.

Class editors, Joanne Reed, Judy Kerr, and Mary Park learn to plan dummies and write copy.

It is the purpose of the 1963 Jacket to unfold the events of the year as the seasons unfold--fall, winter, spring, and summer. The completed book will be a book of memories--memories of a wonderful year at Stephenville High School.

The seasons have been good to SHS this year. A warm autumn brings pep rallies, football games, homecoming, Thanksgiving holidays, and the Presentation Play. As winter arrives, the weather turns colder, and students quicken their paces in happy anticipation of Christmas vacation. After-school hours are spent earning and spending Christmas money. The holidays begin at the end of Santa's annual visit to a special sixth-period assembly. Vacation flies by and everyone returns to the mad rush of finishing semester reports, themes, and tests. With final exams over, second semester gets well underway. Basketball teams begin district play with enthusiastic support from the student body.

Then comes spring when SHS is at her best. The junior play, school tournament, interscholastic league contests, track, baseball, the junior-senior banquet, senior trip, parties and picnics keep students busy, but not too busy to look forward to summer vacation.

The seniors leave Stephenville High School to go on to college, trade school, or a job. Underclassmen stay behind looking forward to the year they will be seniors. We the staff of the '63 Jacket have tried to capture some of the hi-lights that will serve to remind you of that wonderful year, 1962-1963.

Activity ...

Symbol of school spirit

Senior girls go to the field house to see the football boys off for Vernon.

Football season is an exciting part of the year. The Jackets test their strength in a new district, winning four games during the season. Cheerleaders keep spirit alive with pep rallies at school and downtown on the square. The Jacket Band and Stingerettes brighten halftime shows at home and accompany the team out of town. Not only students and faculty but townspeople as well lend their support to the fighting Jackets.

the delirium of football

Manager Bud Arendt calls Coach Scott to the phone to receive information from the press box.

Pat Ballow side-steps a Granbury pirate.

Preparations for homecoming begin several weeks before the actual date. Student council committees begin planning homecoming activities, and Juniors start taking orders for mums. Excitement builds when the student body votes in assembly to select the homecoming queen. Cheerleaders line the halls and buildings with signs, and bury a Weatherford Kangaroo between the new building and the rec room. On Wednesday afternoon everyone gathers for an outdoor pep rally. Thanksgiving weather, cold and crisp, is perfect for the game. A large crowd witnesses one of the better games of the year. Although the Jackets lose, fans go away disheartened but happy in knowing that they should have won. During halftime, Homecoming Queen nominees are introduced and Jackie West is presented as 1962 Homecoming Queen. Following the game, students and exes meet at the dance.

the presentation of favorites

And then he didn't have it! Poor Chuck!

Here you are, Dr. Allenby. You just sit right here and soak your feet.

Members of the play cast get dressed up to celebrate the Allenby good fortune.

The Presentation Play is a big event on the SHS social calendar each year. Sponsored by the annual staff and directed by Mrs. Shannon this year's play, "Seventeen is Terrific," attracts a capacity crowd. Anxiety prevails throughout the play, not only because everyone wants to know how Chuck manages to get to the Christmas formal, but also because they eagerly wait to see just who the favorites are. In the traditional "fourth act" emotions ranging from surprise to tears are displayed as 22 lucky people are presented as favorites of '62-'63.

the excitement of Christmas

Santa pays his annual visit to SHS.

The hustle and bustle of Christmas begins early in December. Clubs plan parties, students take after-school jobs, and everyone looks forward to the holidays. Christmas assembly, the last school activity preceding Christmas vacation, is held sixth period December 21. The speech class presents a short Christmas skit, Coach Pair as Santa reads students' letters and passes out candy, and Student Body President, David Cook, presents prize money to winners of the locker decorations contest.

Joanne and Allen do their Christmas shopping at Perrys.

the feeling of co-operation

Mr. Jones and Meri attend a tea for the faculty in the homemaking cottage.

Stingerette captain, Rita Laughlin, and drum major, Jack Vaughn, go over preliminary plans for Friday night's show.

Outstanding at Stephenville High School is the spirit of co-operation in which students and faculty work together. What student is not heartened on a dark day by a friendly smile or a word of praise from a teacher? And what teacher is not encouraged by an extra word of thanks at the end of a hard day? Without this student-faculty co-operation there could be no athletics, clubs, class plays, homecoming, or any of the many other important events that have helped to make that wonderful year 1962-1963 complete.

the sense of patriotism

Early in the fall when the Cuban crisis is predominant in the news, class discussions center on the topic creating an awareness of the world situation. Small routine ways of showing patriotism attain more significance. Standing for the "Call to the Colors" each morning at the beginning of first period, saying the pledge of allegiance in assembly, and singing "The Star Spangled Banner" at football games stimulates the students' sense of patriotic pride in their country.

Bob and David Self lower the flag after school.

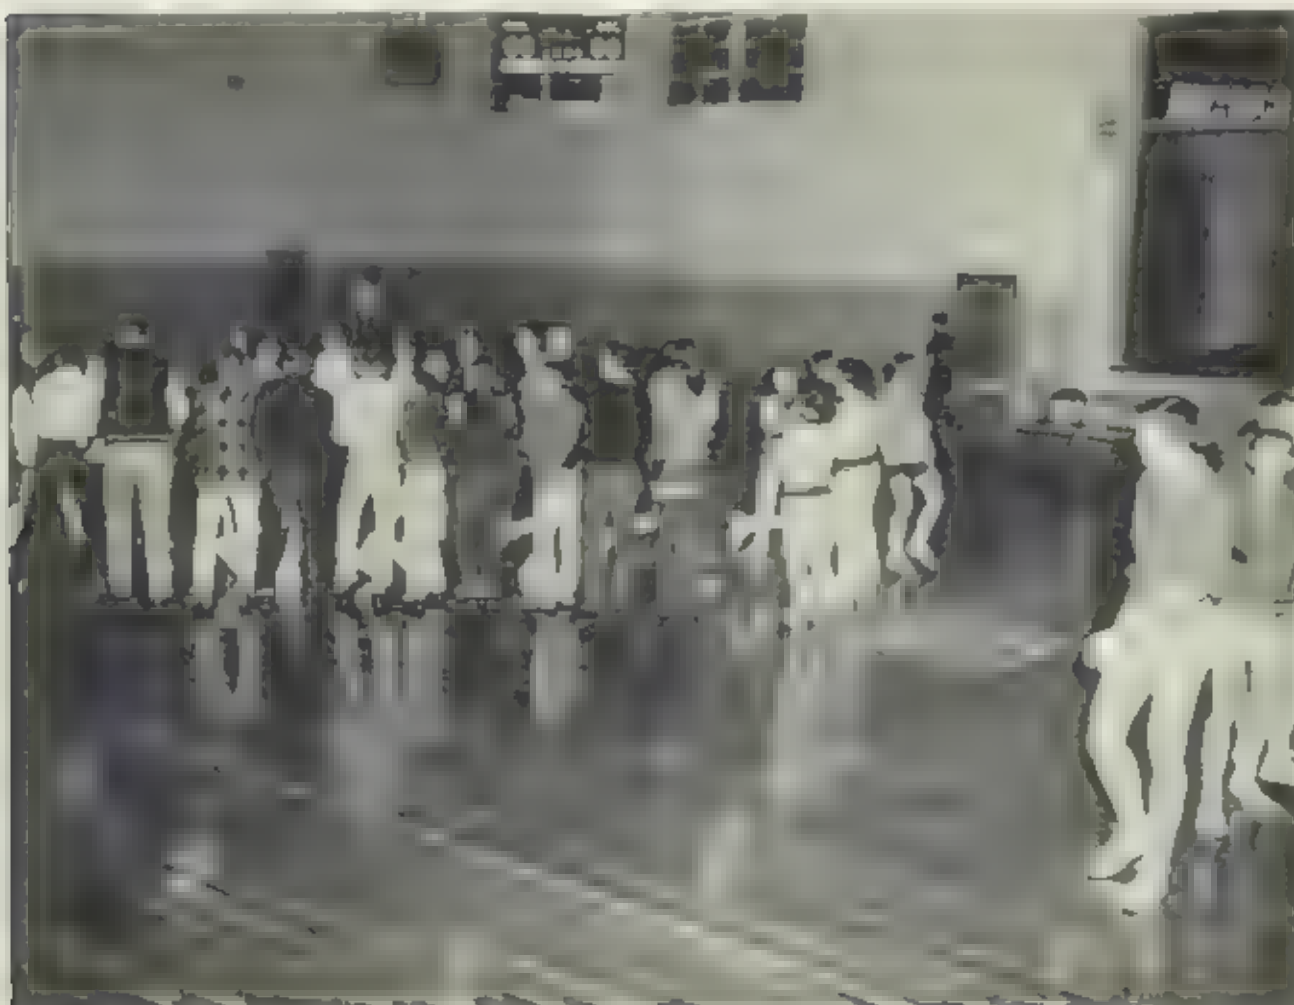

Members of a first period English class stand for the "Call to the Colors."

the atmosphere of warmth

Everyone rushes onto the gym floor to congratulate the Jackets after the Brownwood game. Winning the game clinches the South Zone 4-AAA district championship.

Before the Graham game the Jackets run onto the court through a tunnel of cheering students.

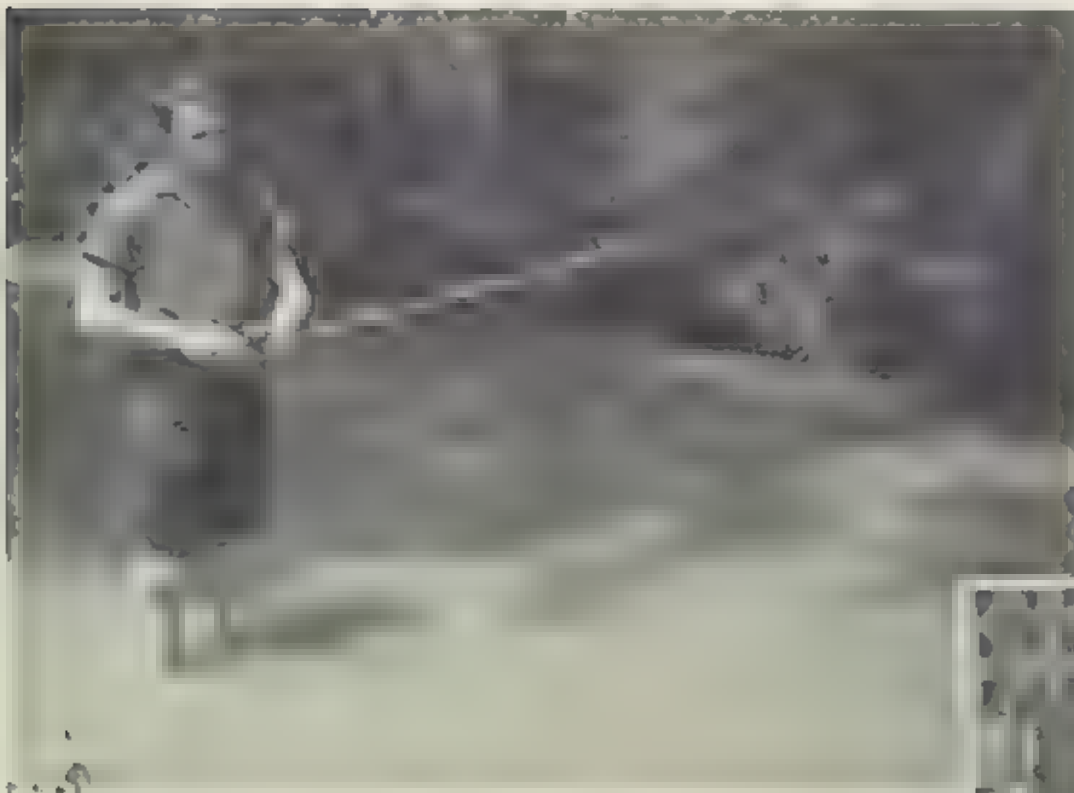

Jean pretends to be studying, but her mind seems to wander. Why is Dollie so pensive?

the calm of a spring day

Warm days bring spring fever to SHS. Students' minds wander from routine classwork to thoughts of big end-of-school events. With sports, banquets, picnics, and parties occupying most free time, moments of calm are treasured.

Billy Frank takes time after school to get in a little fishing.

Jan and Mary seem to be enjoying Steve's ability to entertain on a second's notice.

.... the Alpha and

Omega of graduation

Lazy days of summer fade away as students return to school at the beginning of September. Fishing poles and swimsuits are put aside; new shoes and books take their place. The first few days of school are busy ones. Administrators change schedules and re-group class sections, classes elect leaders, and clubs organize. Soon everything becomes routine. Students settle down to nightly homework, occasional themes and exams. Outside activity centers around football. Members of the Band and Stingerettes spend hours putting the finishing touch on half-time performances. Cheerleaders arouse spirit with skits, posters, songs, and pep rallies at school and downtown on the square. The student body supports the Jackets throughout a successful season. Homecoming and the Presentation Play round out fall activities with a touch of glamour.

Administrators strive to offer

Stephenville is very lucky in its list of high school administrators. First, the school board members, elected by the taxpayers, worry, work, and plan to set up policies that will prove the most beneficial to citizens, teachers, and students. They also interview and select teachers to fill positions on the staff.

Mr. Helm, superintendent, manages the budget, financing, and accounting. He is also in charge of the operation of all Stephenville Public Schools.

Principals, Mr. Jones and Mr. Gilbert, take care of discipline, schedules, testing programs, and innumerable other jobs that go toward making Stephenville High School the superb school it is.

Mr. Helm consults with many people during the day and is always willing and eager to assist and encourage.

Mr. Helm serves coffee to school board members - Nathan Cedars, Vern Pendleton, Gene Porter, Treasurer Leonard Fenner, Secretary Brad Thompson, Vice-President M. C. Brandon, Jr., and President Clinton Cox - at a scheduled meeting.

Janis Helm leaves the office to pick up absentee cards while (right) Jill Wolfe runs the mimeograph machine.

CURRICULUM

Students realize the value of pursuing

Mr. Duncan helps students solve algebra problems in an Algebra I class. Other math courses offered are Trig, Plane Geometry, Algebra II, Analysis, Business Math and General Math.

Truman Bates and Keith Boyd conduct a distillation experiment for Chemistry. Challenging the mind, science courses are very popular to the technically-minded. General Science, Biology, and Physics are other sciences available.

Chas Arendt bashfully reports on a book in English III class. Literature one semester and grammar the next gives English students a well-rounded background in the use of the English language.

Patty Long and Mike Fowler act as Speaker of the House and clerk during the Civics class study of Congress. World History and American History also offer students a means of storing up valuable information of the past in relation to the present and future.

basic courses to prepare for the future

Homemaking and business courses help prepare students for marriage and business careers.

(LEFT) Mrs. Deavenport checks Elaine's records in Bookkeeping class. Shorthand and Typing are also important steps toward a business vocation.

Mrs. Davis assists as Judy Clark takes up some brownies, while Viana Packwood, Peggy Herod, and Bonita Griggs wash dishes.

Vocational Agriculture aids many boys in preparing for their futures through projects, classwork, and field trips.

Mike Stephens sets the tape recorder in Spanish I class. Spanish II, Latin, Speech, and Chorus are other courses available for those who are interested in classical culture.

Mrs. Hill demonstrates the correct way to insert a zipper to Lynell Wood. Home-bound teaching, a new field at SHS, permits students unable to attend school to keep up through Mrs. Hill's untiring efforts.

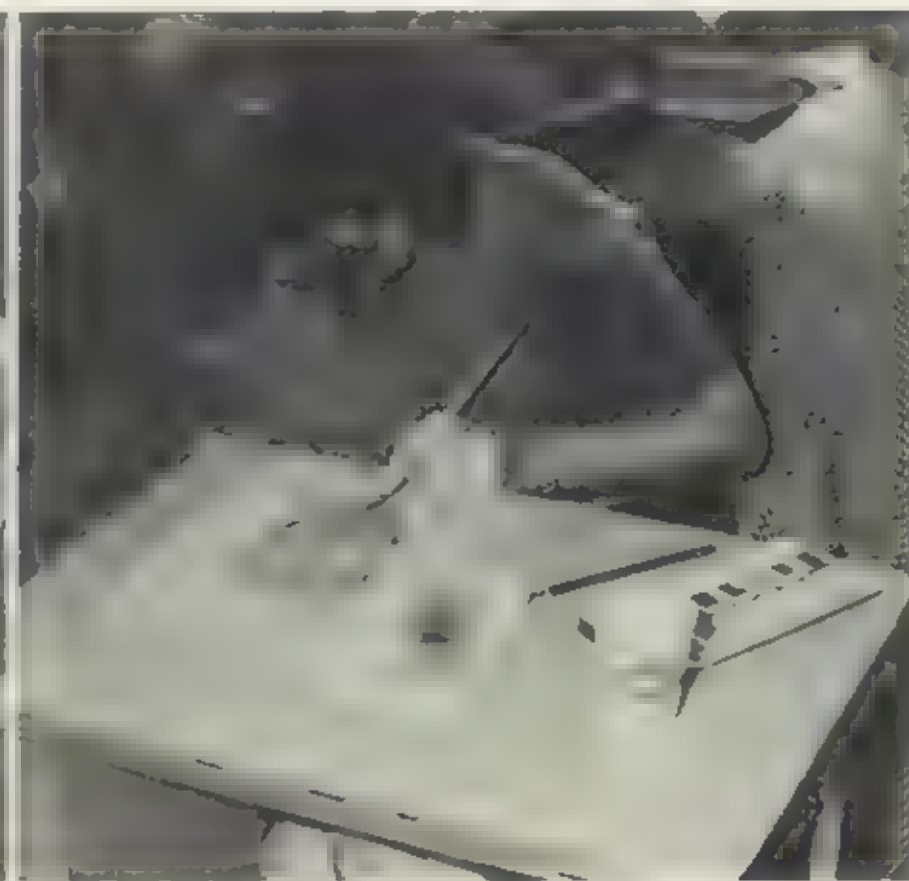

Tim Holder, out with a broken leg, gets aid in an English assignment.

Gymnastics, plus individual and team sports, provide a routine which helps to develop muscular co-ordination and skill. BELOW LEFT, Mrs. Stanfield points out some important factors to her gym class.

Electives complement required courses

SHS teachers, holding 47 degrees including 14 masters and 33 bachelors, having an outstanding cumulative record of 549 years of teaching, 279 of it in Stephenville Public Schools. We as students are extremely fortunate to have these 30 qualified, interested, and cooperative teachers.

TOP RIGHT: Mrs. Deavenport, Mrs. Shipp, Mrs. Teague, and Mrs. Adcock accompany SHS typing and shorthand contestants to IL District Meet.

RIGHT: Mrs. Jackson, Freshman English teacher, displays students' work to interested families during Public School Week.

Teachers earn honors

Mrs. June Shannon, selected by the National Council of Teachers of English and sponsored by the Coe Foundation of New York City, represents Southwestern U. S. A. at the International Poetry Festival in Vancouver, B. C., Canada, in July of 1962. Selecting only one new member each year, the Association chooses Mrs. Shannon to represent the United States in Switzerland in 1963.

Mr. Ralph Moser is elected President of the State Vocational Agriculture Teachers Association at San Antonio in August, 1962. He represents the Association in Florida, Wisconsin, and Wichita, Kansas. Mr. Moser also receives his Honorary American Farmer Degree at the National Future Farmer Convention.

At the Homecoming Game in November, the City of Stephenville presents Mrs. Annie Lynn Leatherwood and Mr. Jim Harwell awards for their "outstanding service to school and community through showmanship, entertainment, and public relations with the Yellow Jacket Band and Stingerette Corp. Mayor Evans proclaims the following week as Band and Stingerette Week.

Mrs. Shannon is delightedly surprised upon receiving a plaque from the Poetry Reader's Festival.

All smiles. Mrs. Leatherwood and Mr. Harwell "show off" plaques presented them by City Secretary, Rex Cates.

Mr. Clinton Cox, School Board President, presents Mr. Moser with his twenty-year service pin.

Mr. Gilbert and Mr. Logan pause for a short conference on one of the many problems of the school.

RIGHT: Mr. Green sweeps out the Ag building after a fifth-period class.

Our custodians, Mr. Logan in the new building, Mr. Evatt in the old building, and Mr. Green in the gym and Ag buildings, work continuously to keep our school clean and beautiful. Mowing, sweeping, waxing, painting, and numerous other tasks keep these men busy before school through the day and sometimes on Saturdays. They are each cooperative and helpful, a real asset to our school.

Workers in background keep school

Bus drivers, B. B. Gilly, O. B. Williams, and Elmer Hill, Jr., chat in front of buses before the 3:40 bell and the stampede for choice seats. These men along with Samuel Terry, George Sparkman, Austin Butler, Lee Cantrell, Jim Jamison, C. J. Koonsman, M. J. Lee, Elbert Martin, and Jesse Sexton pick up and deliver rural students each day.

The cafeteria staff begins early in the morning preparing the nutritious lunches they serve Monday through Friday. Mrs. Hazelwood Elkins, lunchroom supervisor, for Stephenville Public Schools, plans the week's menu, orders supplies, and takes care of all bills. Mr. Ernest Cork delivers equipment to SHS where Mrs. Nancy Williams and Mrs. Clara Huffman turn out the finished product, be it a cobbler or chicken, to approximately 170 students. Always cheerful, these women put up with our cries of "Leave off that, but give me a whole lot of this," without complaint and usually comply to our wishes.

Mrs. Hazelwood Elkins writes checks to merchants for vegetables, meats, and supplies.

Invitations arrive—preparations begin

Seniors begin their most important year, outwardly calm and collected, but inwardly worrying about whether THE college will accept them or whether that super job will come through. Most realize the necessity of hard study, knowing that every bit of knowledge is essential for college entrance tests. The year proves to be the busiest, biggest, and best ever! Class rings arrive early in October. Soon afterward the class engages in the big fund-raising drive of the year, magazine sales. Members of the class head the work in clubs and organizations and in the publication of newspaper and yearbook. They proudly back the best football, basketball, and track teams in several years. The year races by; end of school brings a whirl of activities. The Junior-Senior Banquet with music by Nomads and the rainy-cold day of the senior trip provide never-to-be forgotten memories. When graduation day arrives, 83 students realize their ambition of 12 years as they receive diplomas signifying graduation from high school. Looking back, they see that '62-63 has truly been the most wonderful year.

Juniors at last!

Juniors begin a busy year, enthusiastically making plans to raise money for the banquet. Football concessions, mum sales, bake and rummage sales bring the class closer to their financial goal. Class sponsors-Mrs. Davis, Mrs. Shipp, and Mr. Duncan-prove indispensable as they help to get everything organized. At the beginning of the second semester team captains, steering the class, break tradition by planning the banquet and prom separate. With the approval of the administration and seniors, preparations get underway. The junior play, "Curtain Going Up", before a near capacity audience, completes the fund-drive. Excitement builds as senior rings are ordered and work begins on the banquet. The year ends with a whirl of activities and juniors finally earn the title, "SENIORS."

First day of school finds "Fish" doing upper classmen's bidding.

Almost too scared even to enjoy advancing into the new world of high school, Freshmen enter the SHS halls of learning. Activities during the first few weeks—speeches, songs, leading cheers, and polishing boots and horns—seem a little rough, but fortunately there are no real casualties. Teachers are not nearly so hard as we have been led to believe, and assignments are difficult but not impossible. Such decisions as selecting student council representatives are made in class meetings. The chosen few find themselves in for a lot of work including rec room concession duty. Such "red-letter dates" as our first Presentation Play and the FHA Christmas Formal will always be remembered. As the year ends, autobiographies have been completed and numerous book reports have been made as has the big decision of who will be next year's president and council members. Last, but not least, a dance, swimming party and picnic at the City Park finds us looking forward to next year with no hidden fears.

Winter arrives bringing basketball games, Christmas vacation, sock hops and mid-term exams. Students spend after-school hours preceding the holidays working, shopping, decorating for and attending parties. Short vacation time goes by quickly, and everyone returns to complete first semester work. Club activities get into full swing. Members attend district meetings and work to earn the right to go to state conventions. School spirit is at an all-time high; the boys basketball team captures the South Zone championship, and the girls place first in their district. Letter jackets arrive in time for much wear as unpredictable Texas weather unleashes plenty of cold. Several snowfalls provide the opportunity for snowball fights, and girls happily welcome the chance to wear slacks to school.

4-6 season record

The 1962 Yellow Jackets during the first year's leadership of the two "Kenneths"--head coach Kenneth Scott and assistant coach Kenneth Pair--post a 4-6 season record. Nine seniors--guard Ronnie Altaras, fullback Pat Ballow, tackle Truitt Bandy, end David Clayton, halfback Buck Gaddy, tackle Jimmy Hord, end Dale Moore, guard David Pendleton, and tackle Eddie Roach play their last season for the Jackets. Their leadership and determination will be greatly missed. Senior line-backer Ronnie Altaras and junior defensive halfback Gary Golden earn a place on the 4-AAA All-District team, bringing honor to S.H.S. Three other Jackets, senior fullback Pat Ballow, junior halfback Mike Littleton, and sophomore center Steve Gunn receive honorable mention in the All-District selection.

Jacket cagers, coached by Charles Kitchens, establish SHS's best season record in several years. Team play is the strongest single factor as players show much hustle and desire. After losing the district opener to Brownwood, the Jackets bounce back to capture the South Zone championship in a play-off with the Lions. Stephenville and Brownwood school officials arrange this sudden-death affair by telephone. As Mr. Helm correctly calls the flip of the coin, the Jackets play before a capacity crowd in our own gym. Winning this title leads to a play-off with the Graham Steers, North Zone champs. Outmanned but not without determination, the Jackets go down fighting. Wier and Little are chosen on the 4-AAA All-District team. Watson also receives honorable mention.

Five Jackets Enter State Competition

Jacket thinbriads-- six freshmen and seventeen varsity men-- race through the season, entering weekly practice meets at Clifton and invitational meets at Farrington Field, Brownwood, Graham, TSC, and Ranger Junior College for pre-district competition. Second in district, the Jackets send six contestants to regional, where they place third. At regional five of these--P. Ballow, Roach, J. Ballow, Golden, and Littleton--qualify for the State Meet in the mile relay, high hurdles, discus, and broad jump. To prep for State, these five compete in Texas Tech's Red Raider Relays for state qualifiers.

The 75-member Jacket Band, well-equipped and outfitted, enters into more activities than ever before. Once again the band receives an invitation to perform at Fort Worth's first pro football game of the season. Because of its outstanding reputation, the band is also chosen as the representative high school band for Baylor Band Day activities at the Baylor-Pittsburg game. Band members work all through August and September preparing for the game in early October. The citizens of Stephenville have many opportunities to see and hear the band as it plays at home football games. Proudly displaying their new uniforms, members entertain football fans with colorful half-time performances.

Near the end of football season the band enters a marching contest. 7:30 practices, 4:00 practices, and night rehearsals- all contribute to building the show. The day brings forty-degree rainy weather, but the final results reflect the many hours of work as the band receives a II division rating. Concert playing keeps the band busy during the remainder of the year. The group presents a student concert in February, entertains in assembly, and performs at the Recreation Department Open House. Individual band members work to compete in All-District and Regional band contests, and the entire band prepares for Interscholastic League competition.

SHS Stage Band

The SHS Stage Band becomes more popular each year. In addition to assemblies at both Junior High and Senior High, basketball games, and the Stingerette Show, this versatile organization is asked to play for the Harlem Stars basketball game at the City Recreation Hall and the 1963 Aggie Muster at the National Guard Armory. Stage Band members include Jack Vaughn, Zon McKinney, Mike Biggs, Bob Self, Dollie Collins, Nancy Holcomb, Nancy Harrell, David Kincannon, Steve Gideon, Byron Walters, Bob Adams, Ronald Poff, Jerree McCoy, John Cox, George Whitfield, Bobby Cashon, Tony Price, and Len Cedars.

NHS activities

Clockwise: National Honor Society members earn money operating the basketball tournament concession and selling cupcakes at free period.

NHS recognizes classes having the largest percentage of members on the honor roll. Mrs. Deavenport presents first prize money of $5.00 to senior class president, Monette Boyett. Freshman president, James Dickerson, accepts second place award of $3.00.

Jean Evatt and Joyce Randolph receive $50 scholarships to Tarleton from NHS.

Miss Williams gives NHS president Rita Laughlin her letter of appreciation for "Teacher of the Year" honor.

Ideas are discussed and compared, shared and deliberated. After much discussion, confusion, and controversy the finished paper is finally ready.

FHA interests future homemakers

Sue Greenway, former local and state officer, installs newly-elected officers. President Jan Miller begins the emblem service after officers are installed and new members inducted.

A first in FHA activities this year is the "Grandmother Party," honoring grandmothers of FHA members. A big success, it is a delight to all.

"Wonderland by Night" is enjoyed by FHA members and their dates at the annual Christmas formal.

(ROW 5) Susanne Lohrmann, Ermanna Mendel, Marilyn Wheeler, Melanie Latham, Patsy Waugh, Sandy Trice, Dollie Collins.

The FTA sponsors several money-making projects during the year. A fall bake sale proves to be a big financial success. Miss Lee Edwin Terry shows films of her trip to Europe at one of the night meetings. The members who have been most active in the club are eligible to go to the February district convention held in Coleman where Nancy Flory is elected district vice-president. In March Nan Showalter, Sandy Trice, Joyce Boucher, Nancy Flory, Mary Park, Lu Fulcher, Neva Orbison, Mary Cork, Bob Self, Jimmy Yeager, Mike Zimmerman, Lawrence Bannoswky, David Self, Terry Stephens, and Roger Grizzard travel to the state convention in Dallas. The theme is "Today's Teaching-Tomorrow's Heritage". FTA week in April gives members a chance to teach in the elementary grades and high school. Student teaching prepares members for the future and is a vital part of FTA. The year is concluded with a picnic at Glen Rose.

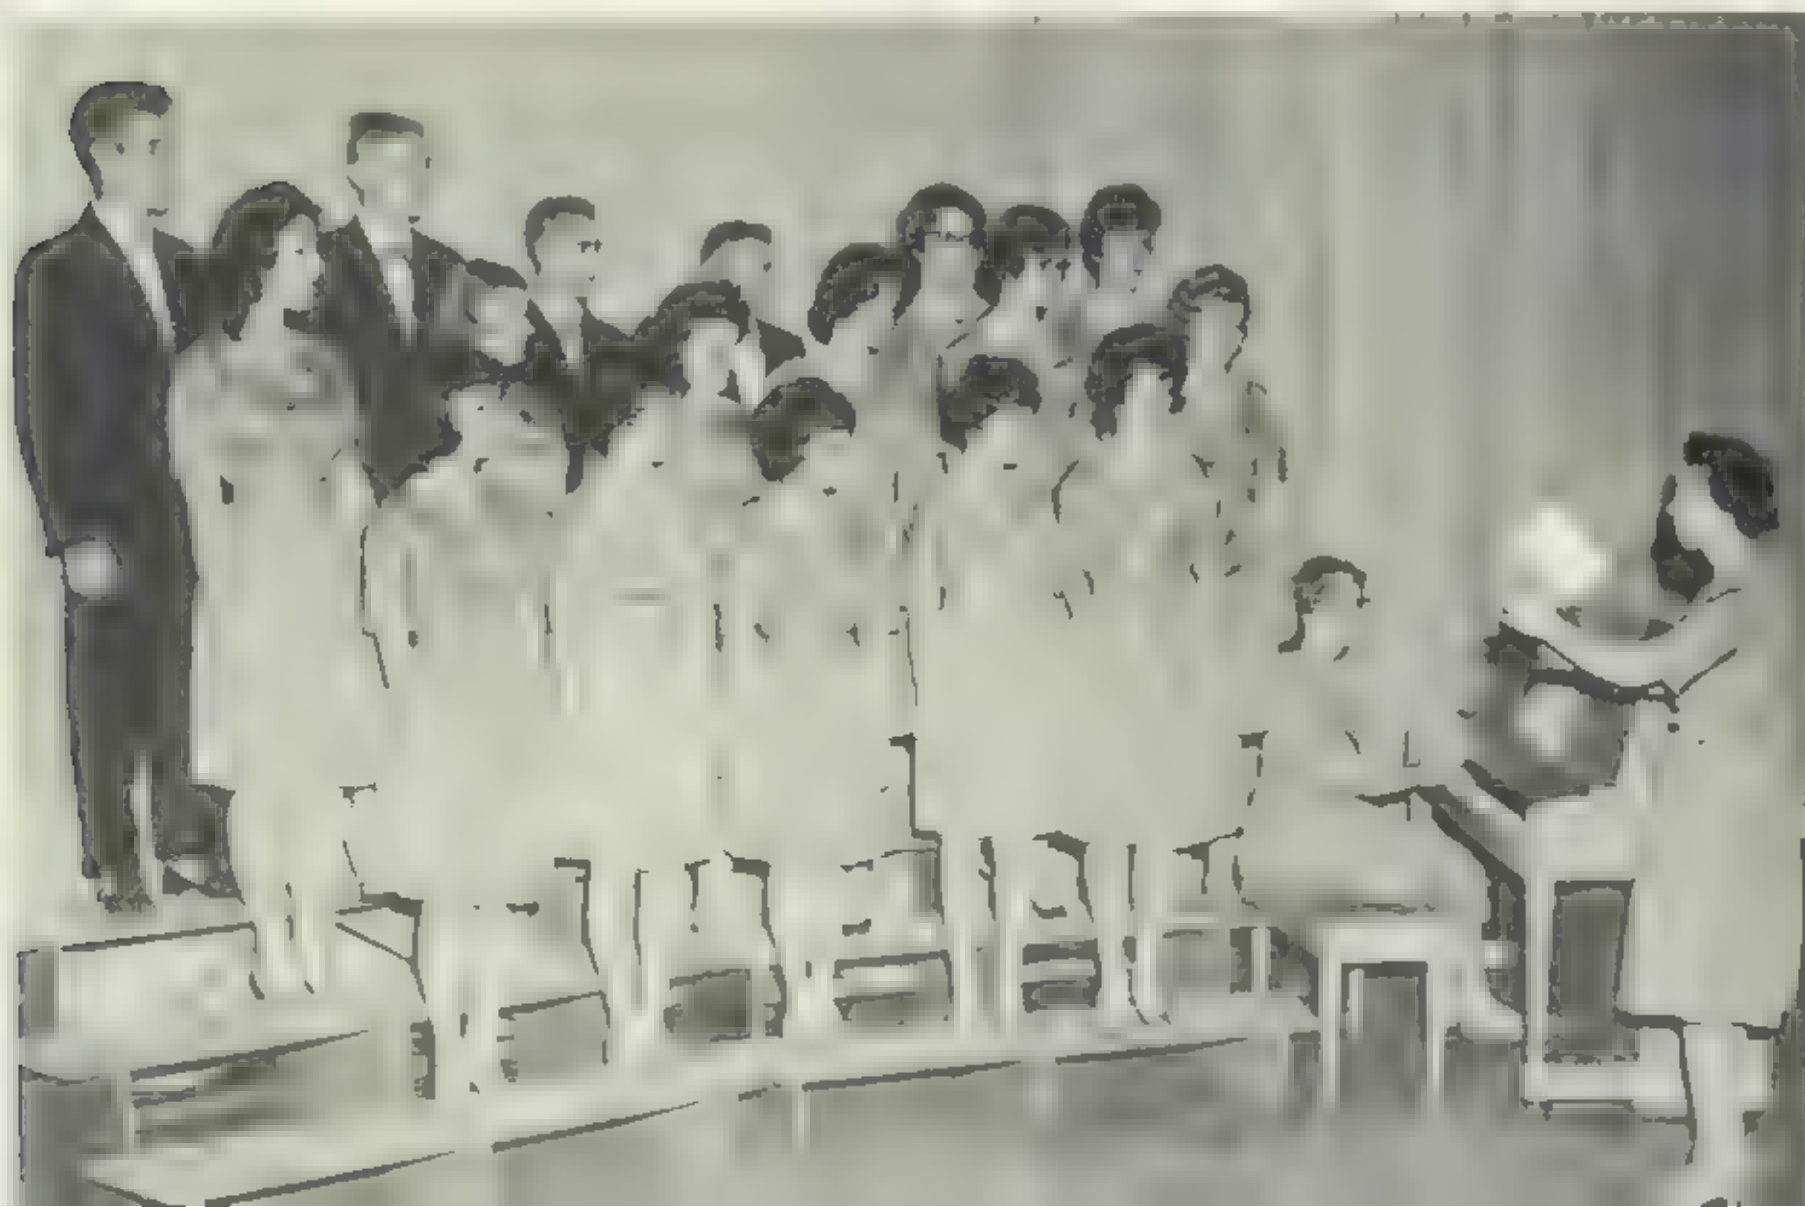

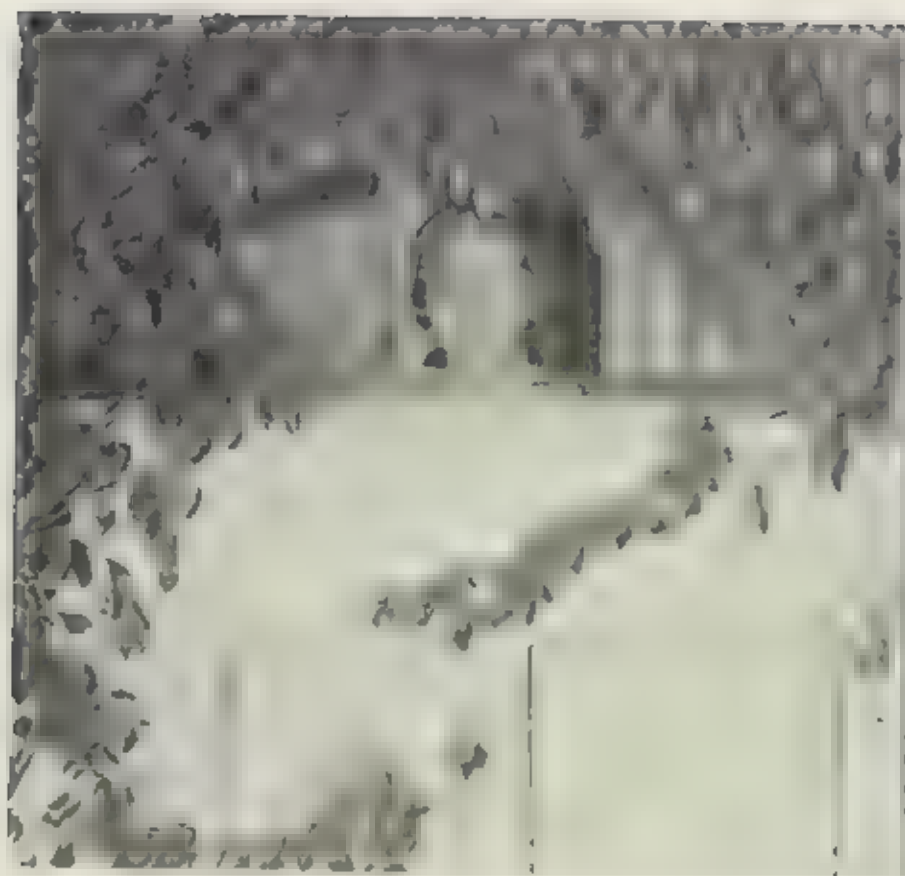

President Ermanna Mendel presides over a meeting of the Speech Club. (ROW 3) Marilyn Miller, Historian Velma Herring, Secretary Patsy Trice, Reporter Thelma Herring, Laura Keder, and Pianist Clydena Bordner.

The chorus and speech clubs are directed by Mrs. Elsie Shannon. They present many programs in assembly and for various organizations. Clydena Bordner, pianist for the chorus, and Jack Craft entertain during one of the earlier assemblies. Speech members, David Cook, Paul Fanning, Angela Jackson, Don Collins, and Ermanna Mendel, dramatize "Dee December's Fatal Quest" for the Classroom Teachers' Association with help from chorus members. A short time after mid-term a party is given for both Speech and Chorus at the Tarleton Steak House. Entertainment is provided by the Levis.

Spring is alpha and omega. It comes suddenly bringing with it the beginning of life. Trees turn green, flowers bloom, and the invigorating warm air makes everyone happy to be alive. Spring is a busy season at SHS. Varied activities fill longer daylight hours to capacity. Spring fever makes students long for the out-of-doors and the chance to be participants or spectators in spring sports. Hopeful expectancy prevails as awards are presented for jobs well done. Elections, banquets, parties, and picnics bring the year closer to an end. The long-awaited Junior-Senior Banquet is the last big event of high school for the class of '63. Graduation day finally arrives bringing with it tears and mixed emotions as seniors realize that their wonderful year is over.

HI-LIGHTS . . .

Long awaited annuals arrive August 18. Students take time from signing other books to purchase pictures taken during the year.

Opposite page: Seniors select class officers at the first meeting of the year.

This section is designed to help you, the student, to recall some of the little things that have helped to make this year complete. Nineteen hundred and sixty-three has been written onto the permanent records and into the life of every student of SHS. Now as the year quickly draws to a close, we pensively reminisce. The fall, though farthest in the past may be the most vivid season as we recall exciting football games. Or perhaps the excitement of Christmas provides the fondest memories. Spring, the perennial symbol of beginning, also marks the end of high school for the Class of '63. No matter which season you prefer, we hope that the following pages will stir your memory--helping you to remember "That Wonderful Year" for many years to come.

Rainy weather fails to dampen spirits on the senior trip. Determined to have a good time, students make the most of facilities at Camp Carter in spite of the weather. A day of swimming, horseback riding, ping pong, card games, hikes, a hayride, baseball, volleyball, and dancing keeps everyone busy. Learning the "jig" or the "nigger" is a new experience for many. Ten o'clock and time to leave finds a group of tired, but happy seniors ready to board buses for the trip home

Businessmen downtown have helped to make the record of our wonderful year possible through their advertising in the 1963 Jacket. Even though the Jacket staff feels that advertisements in our annual will prove of definite value to the advertiser, we would still like to express appreciation to the businesses concerned. This section also contains elements vital to a complete book--faculty directory, senior statistics, and index.

As our students leave SHS, for just the summer or forever, may they never forget that 1962-1963 was definitely "That Wonderful Year".
